

SHARE YOUR EXPERIENCE AND DEVELOP EMERGING TRANSPORT PROFESSIONALS

MENTOR APPLICATIONS NOW OPEN

About

Transport Engineers at Monash will be offering a mentoring program in Semester 2, 2018 for Monash Engineering Students to be partnered with Industry Professionals from the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE). The program aims to motivate, empower and encourage the next generation of professionals entering the transport industry.

Program Details

The Program is spread across two university semesters, beginning in Week 3 Semester 2, 2018 and concluding at the end of Semester 1, 2019. Participants are provided with an induction information session and are supported throughout the year by TEM and ITE if there are any queries. Over the course of the program, mentors and mentees meet monthly to discuss and share knowledge and advice. For mentees this is an opportunity to learn more about the transport industry, develop new networks and build employability skills. The program will conclude with a celebration night, where mentee and mentors share their experiences.

Applications are open to mentors and mentees in the transport profession, irrespective of location. Membership of ITEANZ is not a prerequisite for applying for the Mentoring Program. The ability to match mentors and mentees is subject to geographic distribution of applicants; and it is anticipated that most pairings will be Melbourne-based. Mentoring pairs are matched based on the alignment of goals and objectives to ensure program success.
